EASY WAY TO MAKE
HAIR ATTRACTIVE

Ladies who find trouble in properly or attractively arranging and dressing their hair should try using a little Parisian Sage twice daily for a while and note the remarkable improvement. Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from F. D. Pierce or any drug counter, makes the hair soft, lustrous, fluffy and wavy, takes out the dandruff, restores the hair roots into healthy and normal action. Instead of merely sprinkling the hair, it should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips. Parisian Sage is a delightful treatment for both hair and scalp, cannot possibly injure the hair and is very inexpensive.

In Absence

Your friends and your loved ones are only as far away as the nearest telephone.

You like to think of them enjoying themselves at the seashore, in the country or in the mountains, even though the claims of business hold you in town.

Absence need not mean total separation, however. There's a wonderful comfort and pleasure in chatting with them daily by telephone. And the sound of your voice will be hailed with joy.

There will be no toll charge on a Particular Party Call if you are not connected with the person whose name you have given to the Toll Operator.

Fixing Up an Election.

A curious incident once occurred at Patton at an election for parliament. Sir Mark Wood, who had been one of its members for several years, had as his colleague in the parliament of 1812 Sir William Congreve, the inventor of the famous "Congreve rocket." The latter resigned in 1816, and the baronet wished his own son to fill the vacancy. There were only three voters in the constituency—Sir Mark, his son and his butler, named Jennings—but as the son was away and the butler had quarreled with his master an opportunity was afforded for a singular revenge. Jennings refused to second Sir Mark's nomination of his son and proposed himself, and a deadlock was averted only by Sir Mark coming to terms with the refractory butler, whose nomination he seconded in order to induce him to act as a second to his son. Matters being thus put formally in train, Sir Mark arranged with Jennings that the former's vote should be alone given, and the final state of the poll at Patton's only known contest stood thus: Wood (Tory), 1; Jennings (Whig), 0.—Westminster Gazette.

Snow Ice Cream.

Snow ice cream—what a joy it used to be to the child heart! Mother used to make it when she had been importuned to "dis let us have one more cupful, mom." The youth of today, perhaps, does not need that joy, with everything so handy for buying "store" ice cream. But never can such makeshift take away the memory of the earlier dish. It was so easy to make too. Nature kindly furnished the foundation, and all that was necessary was to add sugar and milk. When a new fall of snow came the children watched anxiously until it became deep enough to scoop up cupfuls of the crystals. Then it was carried to mother and milk poured in and more snow added, and then more milk poured in and more snow added, until there was a full cupful. Sugar was added until the taste was just right and the mixture was placed out of doors until it had become a half frozen mass, and there was the ice cream!—Indianapolis News.

Nicked Arteries.

A "nick" in an artery is sometimes more dangerous than its complete severing, for the coats of arteries are formed of muscular tissue, which contracts, and a slight cut at once expands into a round or oval hole, through which the hemorrhage continues unless the artery be tied. When an artery is completely severed the cut ends tend to turn in and close the tube. In the case of a small artery this closing sometimes needs no assistance. In the case of a larger artery the surgeon ties it at once and thus closes it for good. The New York Medical Journal reports two cases at Lincoln hospital in which hemorrhages broke out over and over again for several weeks in arteries that had only just been nicked and that were finally healed by being tied just as if they had been severed.

LIFTED BURDENS.

The camel at the close of day,
Kneels down upon the sandy plain
To have his burden lifted off
And rest again.
My soul! Thou, too, shouldst
to thy knees
When daylight draweth to a close
To have thy Master lift the load,
And grant repose.
The camel kneels at morning dawn
To have his guide replace the load,
Then rises up anew to take
The desert road.

So shouldst thou kneel at morning dawn,
That God may give thee daily care,
Assured that he no load too great
Will make thee bear.
